

We invite to join our team.

If you are an organization that promotes social justice through ethical, community centered services– we want you on our team!

Our commitment is to contribute to healthy communities by preparing students to take up social work positions within their community.

We ask that you support students from our school by allowing them to work with you for 350 hours (BSW) or 450 hours (MSW). Students will come prepared to work hard and contribute in meaningful ways to your organizational goals.

Imagine what we can accomplish together!

Supporting Social Work Practicum

UVic School of Social Work delivers accredited undergraduate and graduate social work education across Canada. We have approximately 500 active students in our program. We are seeking community organizations to host social work students year-round or in one of three semesters during the year.

Why your organization?

We are approaching community agencies to support social work students. Your organization has unique attributes and connections with social justice initiatives that we believe will positively influence social work practice in Canada in the future.

The Process

You will receive a resume and covering letter from one of our Field Education Coordinators. You will have a chance to interview students. If you choose to offer practicums on a regular basis you will have a consistent flow of students on your team to help with important projects and activities.

What we offer:

- Pre-practicum preparation for incoming students
- Supervisor support
- Free access to Infoline library privileges for one year.
- New perspectives through engagement with enthusiastic motivated students.
- Official recognition of supervision suitable for continuing competency requirements for professional registration, signed by the Director of the School of Social Work

How do you become a Social Work Supervisor?

Fill out the form on the back of this brochure and mail, fax or email it to our office.

You will be contacted by one of our practicum team to discuss your pre-practicum requirements for students and review next steps.
