

University of Victoria

Greek & Roman
Studies

Greek and Roman Studies 102: Discovering the Ancient Romans

Spring 2025    TWF    1:30-2:20 p.m.    Professor Alejandro Sinner

GRS 102 is an introduction to the literature, history, and archaeology of ancient Rome. The course explores Roman civilization from its foundations through the Empire, taking into account a variety of sources that illustrate important aspects of Roman civilization and their evolution over time.

- read major works of Latin literature in translation
- gain an overview of Roman history, including key events and figures
- learn about Roman culture and social life
- explore important Roman archaeological sites
- encounter important works of Roman art

No prerequisites.