

University of Victoria

Greek & Roman
Studies

Greek and Roman Studies 200: Greek and Roman Mythology

Spring 2025 MTh 10:30-11:20 a.m. Professor Laurel Bowman GRS 200 is an introduction to Greek and Roman myth. The course draws upon literary and artistic sources to analyze the significance and function of myths in Greek and Roman culture.

- learn the most common Greek and Roman myths
- read Greek and Roman myths in translation
- explore current scholarly interpretations of Greek and Roman myth
- discover the rich legacy of Greek and Roman mythology in contemporary media, including visual arts, film, and theater

No prerequisites. Cross-listed as RCS 200.

