Transsystemic Law Series

Transsystemic administrative law

Professor Janna Promislow
University of Victoria - Faculty of Law

Tuesday Feb 23, 2021 10:00 am PST (Vancouver)

In this talk, Dr. Promislow addressed key questions and challenges in pursuing a transsystemic approach to research and teaching administrative law. By outlining some of the moves involved in toggling between state and non-state legal orders in an area of law generally associated with the state, the talk reflected on how a transsystemic approach will address legal principles related to governmental decision-making in Indigenous legal orders, and may also redefine the study of administrative law more generally away from its traditional focus on the principles of judicial review.
