

Linguistic Anthropology 396 (Dr. Dorothy Kennedy)

Created by Dr. Dorothy Kennedy and Dr. Laurie Waye of the University of Victoria ©2014
 This copy is solely for the use by a student, staff, or faculty member. Any other use may be an infringement of copyright if done without securing the permission of the copyright owners.

Critical reflection and argument	Content	Writing
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Present a concise statement concerning the topic that is being covered in the paper • Demonstrate a thorough understanding of at least five scholarly sources • Historically contextualize the material, if appropriate • Synthesize material effectively and concisely • Support claims with evidence and personal reflection • Balance analysis and description • Develop the thesis in an organized manner • Ensure that only material relevant to the thesis is included • Balance the reliance on published literature with your own ideas, analysis, and critical thinking 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Clearly present the significance of the argument being made with respect to Linguistic Anthropology • Describe the world view or context for the argument • The introduction is convincing and highlights the topic at hand • A basic structure that includes an introduction, a body (literature overview, case study or studies, and discussion), and a conclusion • A well-structured thesis statement is well-supported throughout the essay by well-developed points • Contrary arguments are acknowledged and rebutted 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Create coherent flow throughout the paper • Use appropriate citations in the AAA style • Appropriate use of headings and subheadings (main headings in caps and bolded; subheadings bolded) • Do not use biased or inflammatory language • Avoid repetition • Quotations are introduced, explained effectively and well-integrated into the body of the paper • No obvious grammar or spelling errors • Appropriate length (approximately 15 double-spaced pages) • Can use “I” • Can use photos and material from the internet, with proper citation • Avoid plagiarism
Score out of 25:	Score out of 25:	Score out of 10:
Comments:	Comments:	Comments: