

The Law of Homicide, Provocation and Self-Defence: Canadian, Australian and Other Asia-Pacific Perspectives

Table of Contents

Preface

Session One: Murder: Fault Elements, Categories and Penalty Structure

- The Law with Respect to Murder in Canada: Fault Elements, Categories and Penalty Structure -- Robert Mulligan
- The Fault Element with Respect to Murder in Canada -- Ian Donaldson, Q.C.
- Canadian, Indian and Australian Perspectives on Murder: A Comparative Study -- Stanley Yeo

Session Two: Manslaughter

- Unlawful Act Manslaughter: Origins, Elements, and Future Directions -- Richard Peck, Q.C. and Nikos Harris
- Rethinking the Application of the Smithers Causation Test to Unlawful Act Manslaughter - Gregory Fitch
- The Fault Elements for Involuntary Manslaughter: Lessons from Australia -- Stanley Yeo
- Mere Terminology or Substance? The Smithers Test and Significant Contribution (Nette) -- Stanley Yeo

Session Three: Provocation

- Provocation: The Sensitive, New Age, Ordinary Person -- Christine Boyle
- Comments on the Defence of Provocation -- David Winkler, Q.C.
- Provocation: A Comparative Analysis of the Canadian, Australian and Indian Defence -- Stanley Yeo
- Practical Effects of Modifying the Defence of Provocation -- Rita Williams

Session Four: Self Defence

- Self-Defence: Selecting the Applicable Provisions -- Gerry Ferguson
- Comments on Self-Defence and Homicide -- Gil McKinnon, Q.C.
- Self-Defence in Homicide Cases: Some Australian Insights -- Stanley Yeo
- Subjectivising and Objectivising Self-Defence -- Krista Robertson

Concluding Essay

Towards a Shared Criminal Jurisprudence in the Asia-Pacific -- Stanley Yeo

Workshop Program and Biographical Notes on Contributors