

SAGE WORKSHOP WITH DR. JOHN BORROWS:

FINDING PATTERNS: WRITING AS INDIGENOUS PRACTICE

Anishinaabe laws and Indigenous lifeways can be a significant force in prompting reflection. These practices can be a powerful guide for writing. Drawing on teachings John received from his family, friends, communities, and elders, including Elder Basil Johnston's friendship and life's work, this presentation will explore how writing can be embedded as a practice of Indigenous resurgence.

REGISTRATION REQUIRED

Register here

LIMITED CAPACITY:

Open to UVic graduate students, faculty, and staff; Indigenous graduate students throughout Canada

OCT • 15 • 2020
12:00 PM-1:30 PM PST

Centre for Indigenous Research and Community-Led Engagement