

I am currently a Teaching Professor in the Division of Medical Sciences and have been a faculty member at UVic since February 2005. In the past I have been a member of the Teaching Faculty Committee, the Academic Advisory Committee on Equity and Diversity (this committee has since changed), the University Academic Appointments Committee, and the Animal Care Committee.

I am very interested in issues related to teaching and learning, teaching stream faculty and issues, as well as issues related to equity and diversity.

Through the Division of Medical Sciences, I teach in the Island Medical Program, a distributed site of UBC's medical school, where I teach undergraduate medical students in a number of courses primarily during their first two years of the 4-year program.
